ROBBERS SHOOT ONE MAN DURING NIGHT HOLD-UP

CLOVERDALE SCENE OF EARLY
SUNDAY MORNING ROBBERY
OVER WEEK END

RAY JORDAN IN HOSPITAL

Is Suffering From Gun Wound In Shoulder, Party Lost
About $100

One man, Ray Jordan, was shot in the shoulder and is in the Putnam county hospital, as a result of a hi-jacking raid on some kind of a "social" club at Cloverdale early Sunday morning.

The raid was said to have netted the raiders something like $100 in cash. The men at the club were lined up against the wall and told to stay there while the raiders went through their pockets. Jordan evidently figured he was too slick for them and attempted to put his pocketbook down the front of his trousers. While he was working, the raiders were taking no chances and thinking perhaps Jordan was trying to get a gun, they plugged him in the shoulder from the back. They took what the men, eleven of them, had, and disappeared in the darkness of the early hours of the morning.

Jordan was taken to a Cloverdale physician who sent him to the Putnam county hospital. The hospital attaches were as reticent as were the citizens of Cloverdale in giving out information. It was known that Jordan came to the hospital shortly after three o'clock but other than that fact that he was there, no information was forth coming.

A Greencastle physician was called to take charge of the wounded man, and he said he was getting along as well as could be expected and no doubt will be sent home before long. It was evidently fortunate for Jordan that the raiders were either a good shot or a poor shot, or he might have been killed. If the hijacker attempted to miss him, he did a poor job of it, and if he attempted to kill him, he did a good job of missing him.

No report to police officers was made of the hold-up and no effort was made to solve the mysterious shooting, it was claimed. Some said the hijackers were from Terre Haute, and others said the information came through a boot-legger at Conot, but all this was just grape-vine reports as no one seemed inclined or cared to give any facts concerning the affair and it might have been hushed up entirely had not the wounds of Jordan been sufficiently serious to send him to the hospital.

Earlier in the evening of Saturday, the general store of Victor Black at Quincy was held up by two men, who entered the store as Black was preparing to leave. Two or three customers were loafing with Black at the time, and all were forced to lie on the floor, while the robbers went through the cash register. Only $5 was found and they threatened to kill Black for not having more money than they found, but left without doing anyone any harm.

The men who held up the Cloverdale crowd may have been the same ones who worked at Quincy, but it is doubtful, because it seemed that the Cloverdale affair was one worked out by persons well informed as to where the party was being held and who was attending it.

Jordan is at liberty under bond charged with possession of liquor and contributing to the delinquency of a minor, following his arrest by Putnam county officers in a raid several weeks ago.

It was also reported that one of the filling stations on Road 43 south of Cloverdale had been robbed Saturday night and lost $50, but this was not verified here, as no official report of any of the hold-ups were made.

MALONE TO SUPPORT HOOVER

NEW YORK, Oct. 24, (UP)—Dudley Field Malone, appointee of Woodrow Wilson, is the first among the Democratic friends and advisers of former Mayor James J. Walker to announce formally he would support Herbert Hoover and not Franklin D. Roosevelt for the presidency.

Roosevelt, Malone told interviewers, would require "four years to learn what Hoover now knows."

Malone is not a member of Tammany. He campaigned for Woodrow Wilson, and directed his campaign for re-election in California in 1916. Wilson made his assistant secretary of state and later collector of the Port of New York.

Barred Bishop

The Right Rev. Bishop Fan S. Noli is shown aboard the S. S. New York as it arrived in the port for which it is named. The prelate, who was formerly Prime Minister of Albania, might be termed a "man without a country" since he has been exiled from his native land. U. S. immigration authorities refused him permission to land here and he was sent to Ellis Island.

OLD GOLD DAY PROGRAM ENDS SUNDAY NIGHT

DINNER IN LUCY ROWLAND
HALL HONORS DR. CHARLES
A. BEARD WHO SPEAKS

PROGRAM FOR COMING WEEK

Ideal Weather Conditions and Perfect
Homecoming Celebration Pleases Alumni

Old Gold day festivities closed Sunday evening and DePauw university swung into its program for the coming week. The last alumni and the last guest left the campus with the feeling that DePauw had celebrated a perfect Homecoming despite the fact that a contagious football team went down before heavy odds.

One of the closing functions on the program was a dinner in Lucy Rowland hall at which Charles A. Beard, 98, was honor guest. About one hundred faculty members and their wives attended this dinner at which Dr. Oxnham presided as toastmaster and Mr. Beard spoke.

Dr. Beard did graduate work at Cornell, Oxford, and Columbia universities where he received his A. M. and Ph. D. degrees. He was elected to Phi Beta Kappa and is a member of the DePauw chapter of Phi Gamma Delta. For several years he was professor of politics at Columbia university, but is best known as an author. He has written a "History of the United States" and "The Rise of American Civilization", among his best known books, the latter in collaboration with his wife, Mary Ritter Beard, also a DePauw graduate and member of Kappa Alpha Theta.

Following his informal talk, Dr. Beard answered questions propounded by faculty members. He was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Dwight Ritter of Indianapolis, relatives of Dr. Beard. Mr. Ritter is a former president of the DePauw Alumni association.

The second performance of the Old Gold day play was presented Saturday evening before a packed house and scored its second hit. Most of the fraternity and sorority houses held dinners for their returning alumni and guests. Many local football fans, who heard the DePauw-Ohio Wesleyan game broadcast from station WBOW, praised the work of Alpha Delta Sigma, the organization which sponsored the broadcast. Saturday, DePauw plays Earlham.

The program for the coming week started with President Oxnham's vespers service address Sunday evening and his chapel talk Monday morning. Prof. R. T. Stephenson will be in charge of chapel Tuesday. The regular devotional chapel Wednesday will have Prof. F. C. Tilden as speaker and Thursday's music chapel will have a trio composed of Miss Edna Boxley, cello, Miss Louise Palmer Walker, violin, and Prof. Henry Kolling, piano, all from the Music School faculty.

MEETING HERE TONIGHT

Mrs. Grace Evans, Terre Haute, will speak in Republican headquarters here this evening, bringing a message of special interest to the colored voters. Mrs. Evans is a graduate of a famous southern colored university and is well posted on national issues of the present campaign.

PRESIDENT TO NEW YORK FOR NEXT ADDRESS

MR. HOOVER TO SPEAK IN MADISON SQUARE GARDEN
OCTOBER 31

PLANS "WHIRLWIND" FINISH

President Contemplates Several Speeches On Trip Across Nation Next Week.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24, (UP)—President Hoover may wind up his vigorous personal campaign for reelection with a dramatic trans-continental dash during the last few days before the election.

The contemplated "whirlwind finish" would be a trip to his Palo Alto, Calif., home so timed that he could make two more appeals for support in the middle west, with speeches probably at Chicago and Indianapolis. Other stops on the tentative trip being considered are Minneapolis, St. Paul, Kansas City, Denver, Salt Lake City and San Francisco.

However, the official program at present only calls for a speech in New York city Monday night.

A fourth offensive into the doubtful middle west has been tentatively decided on regardless of the fate of the proposed California trip. The President might make the middle western trip, speaking at Chicago and Indianapolis either late this week, or immediately after his address in Madison Square Garden, it was said.

In event he makes up his mind to go to the west, the midwest speeches probably would be made on the way.

Regardless of how he decides on these final intensive phases of the campaign, one thing is certain—the President is going to "keep on the front page" from now until election day with statements and speeches taking issue with his Democratic opponent, Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt, and in defense of his administration.

It was pleased with the receptions on his old-fashioned campaign swing across West Virginia, Ohio and into Michigan on his way to Detroit last Saturday.

The hostile demonstration at Detroit, where he heard "boos" from a crowd at the station and along the drive to Olympia arena, failed to disturb him seriously. Persons who talked with him about it said that rather than feeling perturbed, the President thought the reaction might prove helpful.

Some of his advisers felt that it showed the so-called communists and radical element were opposed to his conservative program to aid the needy and pull the country out of the depression, and that he would gain votes in other quarters because of that opposition. He was cheered to the echo frequently by the arena audience.

The President had Mr. and Mrs. Henry Ford as his guests on the train back to Washington Saturday night. Ford was on the platform at Detroit and probably will go to Chicago if Mr. Hoover speaks there.

The Ford's went back to Detroit last night in their private car.

The automobile magnate and Senator Glenn of Illinois, urged the President to make the Chicago and Indianapolis speeches. The president wants to speak at St. Louis, in the heart of one of the most doubtful areas in the country, it was understood, while a Minneapolis speech has been snuffed off and on all during (Continued on Page Two)

Senator Fess Here Tomorrow

REPUBLICAN SENATOR FROM OHIO TO SPEAK AT COURTHOUSE

Senator Simeon D. Fess, of Ohio, who was chairman of the Republican national convention in Chicago this summer, will speak in the circuit court room at the courthouse Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock. Senator Fess comes to Greencastle as a representative of the G. O. P. national committee and will discuss the major issues of the presidential campaign.

Senator Fess before entering politics was an educator of wide reputation. Since his election to the United States senate several years ago, he has proved to be one of the foremost legislators in the country and has been prominently identified with all progressive action of the senate.

The public is cordially invited to hear Senator Fess.

NEXT HOUSE FOR REPEAL POLL SHOWS

SURVEY BY WOMEN'S ORGAN-IZATION REVEALS 11 "WETS"
TO ONE "DRY"

607 SENT QUESTIONNAIRES

Nationwide Poll Made By Women's Organization For National Prohibition Reform.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24, (UP)—The next house of representatives will be overwhelmingly in favor of repeal of the eighteenth amendment, according to a nationwide poll of candidates by the women's organization for national prohibition reform.

The organization said the results of its poll showed that 73rd congress would have eleven "wets" to every "dry."

Announcement of the poll results last night came as the Anti-Saloon prepared to launch a drive looking to the unseating of all members of the present congress in 1934, if they vote for beer at the short session this winter.

The league intends to hold its annual convention here shortly after congress meets in December. A spokesman of the dry organization told the United Press the purpose of the convention would be to warn congressmen that they face "political oblivion" two years hence if they change their dry votes of last session to wet this winter.

The women's anti-prohibition organization said its poll was replied to by 697 candidates in 45 states, and that 553 are classified as wets and 144 as dries by their answers to the following question:

"If elected will you support a resolution for the straight repeal of the eighteenth amendment and the restoration to each state of its power to regulate the manufacture, sale and transportation of intoxicating beverages within its own limits; such resolution to be submitted to conventions in the several states for ratification or rejection?"

Of those favoring repeal, the organization said 322 were Democrats, 135 Republicans, and seven independent candidates, while two Democrats, 47 Republicans, and two independents answered "no" to the question.

Sixty-nine candidates in New York replied "yes" to one "no." The 15 from Georgia who replied "yes." There was only one "no" out of six replies from Alabama candidates, Kentucky had 10 answering "yes" and four "no." California was 32 to 2 in favor of repeal, while Indiana had 13 for repeal, three against, and two evasive. All 48 replies from Illinois were wet.

CABINET TALK "PREMATURE"

New York Governor Dismisses Rumors
Along This Line On Tour Of South.

ATLANTA, Ga., Oct. 24, (UP)—Franklin Roosevelt is giving such increased attention to his cabinet and legislative economic program in event of victory two weeks from Tuesday, that many friends with him here believe he will resign as governor of New York soon after the election.

Such talk is dismissed by the governor, even as he has dismissed speculation on a presidential cabinet as "premature." Cabinet talk has included principally discussion of Alfred E. Smith and some of Miss Frances Perkins, New York state industrial commissioner. Democratic national chairman James A. Farley and Melvin Traylor, Chicago banker, also are mentioned.

The governor does not consider his visit here a part of the political campaign, although he was a guest of honor at a luncheon planned today by Mayor John S. Cohen, vice chairman of the Democratic national committee. The governor plans a major speech here tonight.

This is his "part time home." He won his fight against infantile paralysis at Warm Springs near here, and regards return visits to that spot as a "trip home." He makes such trips frequently.

"Win or lose," he said here, "I'm coming back down here after the election."

Some friends believed he will turn over the New York state affairs right after election to Lt. Gov. Lehman, who is the Roosevelt candidate for governor of New York. This would insure continuity in state policies, and still release Roosevelt so that he could come down here to the quiet hills of Warm Springs. In these restful surroundings, remote from the beaten path, he could escape the hordes of office seekers, promoters and others cluster around every new president.

Cabinet speculation at this state is largely guesswork. It is doubtful if Roosevelt has made any commitments. There is talk that Farley may become postmaster general, Traylor secretary of the treasury, and Miss Perkins secretary of labor and the first woman cabinet member.

There is more foundation for the latter suggested appointment than any of the others. Roosevelt is very likely to put a woman in his cabinet. He is not through breaking precedents by any means.

Policies have been forecast in his campaign speeches. If the short session of the old congress which meets in December does not restore beer, it will be one of the first things to be tackled in the Roosevelt administration.

An extra session of congress is regarded by Democratic politicians as almost inevitable.

ROY RIDDLE AND HIS WIFE FACE CHARGES

ALLEGED EFFORTS TO INTIMI-
DATE CITIZENS OF JACK-SON TWP. FAIL

CHARGED WITH CARRYING GUN

Wife Said To Have Drawn Weapon
On Mr. and Mrs. Alta
Morphew

Alleged efforts of Roy Riddle, 31 years old, of Barnard, to intimidate residents of Jackson township Saturday evening by flourishing a gun, resulted in charges being filed against Riddle and his wife in the Putnam circuit court Monday. A delegation of about twenty-five citizens of that community came to Greencastle to press charges against the couple.

Riddle is charged with carrying a concealed weapon without a permit, while his wife is charged with drawing a deadly weapon.

Other officials filed in the city court of Greencastle and the Putnam circuit court October 14 charge Riddle with possession of liquor and possession of a still. He is at liberty under bond on these charges.

It was reported here Monday that Riddle went on a rampage Saturday night and charged various persons in Barnard and vicinity with turning him in to federal and county authorities who arrested him on the liquor charges.

In an altercation at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Alta Morphew, who live across the street from the Riddles, it was said Riddle gave his wife a gun with instructions to use it on the Morphews and he would "back her up." This altercation, however, was said to have ended peacefully.

A little later Riddle is said to have accosted Colonel Jarvis in front of the Jarvis store and to have threatened Jarvis with the gun. When Jarvis drew a similar weapon, Riddle is said to have tugged down and left the scene.

Deputy sheriff Edward Eiteljorge was called to Barnard but Riddle had disappeared and could not be found. Monday morning the delegation from Jackson township came to Greencastle and preferred charges against Riddle and his wife, alleging they were a source of much trouble in that community.

Riddle, his father, Solie Riddle, and Herman Walls, were all arrested by county and federal officers October 14, Walls pleading guilty to charges of possession of liquor in city court and possession of a still in circuit court. He was sentenced to 6 months on the penal farm on the first charge and was given 1 to 5 years in state prison on the second charge. He is still held in the county jail and probably will be used as a witness against the two Riddles when they come to trial on charges of possession of a still.

OXNAM SPEAKS AT VESPERS ON CHINESE HERO

TELLS STORY OF SUN YET SEN, FIRST PRESIDENT OF
CHINESE REPUBLIC

LARGE CROWD HEARS SPEAKER

Although Born in Obscure Village,
Rises to Overthrow Power of Great Manchu Dynasty

"The story of Sun Yat Sen is almost as unbelievable as a fairy tale," Dr. G. Bromley Oxnham said at vespers Sunday evening before a well-filled church in the third of his addresses on Personalities of Power. "Born in an obscure Chinese village, Sun Yat Sen brought the great Manchu dynasty to its knees."

To show what insurmountable barriers faced this revolutionary leader, the speaker enumerated the tremendous power of the Manchus with the spy system and quick executions; the superstition of the people; the great size of China; the lack of a system of transportation and communication, no railroads or newspapers—in fact we cannot understand it with our own lack of historical background of China.

The only thing to assist Sun Yat Sen was the fact that there was a revolutionary feeling in southern China. In the beginning this leader's purpose was guided by high idealism. He planned his reforms for three stages, the first being military in which power should be seized and control manifested. In the second phase, a system of tutelage and education was to enlighten the people, leading to the third phase of constitutionalism. China, Dr. Oxnham stated, is still in the first stage.

The life of Sun Yat Sen was sketched briefly. Born in a small village, the son of a farmer, he was able to attend school, later going to a brother in Honolulu. Graduating there and returning to his native village he was exiled for defacing the gods which he refused to accept. Goes to Hong Kong where he graduates from a medical school. Later locates as an M. D. at Canton but takes up work of revolution. Is discovered and flees to Japan. Disguises himself as a Japanese.

Came to America and thence to England where he is kidnapped. Is rescued and returns to China in disguise. Constantly raising money and organizing followers he attempts revolutions in 1900, 1904, 1907, and 1911, only the last was successful and in 1912 he was chosen president. Volunteers to resign if the Manchus will abdicate, which they do. Through treachery of a friend he is forced to flee again and in 1925, on his death bed, he dictated his will to the people of China and from that time a change of attitude came that made him again a national hero and today his memory is the inspiration of every Chinese.

Many Old Gold day guests heard President Oxnham in this address. The Methodist choir sang with Prof. Van Denman Thompson at the organ.

MEETING AT CLOVERDALE

Cloverdale Young Voter's Democratic club, Cloverdale township, will meet Monday evening at 7:30 o'clock at the Democratic headquarters at Cloverdale. The Honorable Courtland C. Gillen will be the speaker of the evening. Everyone invited to attend.

A COMMUNIST CANDIDATE

Sunday's news dispatches from New York city carried the information that the wife of a Columbia University professor had been arrested and sentenced to jail for ten days. The woman was a "red" and glad of it, and is also a communist candidate for congress from her New York district. She might be elected, and then as a member of congress say anything she desires against anyone, the government or what-not.

Her husband evidently agrees with her in his political thought, and he is teaching American youth in the great university, and in all probability is teaching communism.

Other news dispatches Sunday carried the detailed statement of the millions who have been executed, exiled, etc., in Russia under Red rule, but do we see any American Reds going to Russia. We do not, and they are afraid to go there for the same reason that others are.

SIX INJURED IN CRASH

LEBANON, Ind., Oct. 24, (UP)—Six young persons of Illinois were injured near Jamestown, Ind., last night when the automobile in which they were riding plunged from state road 34 and crashed into a house.

Leo Libby, Homer, Ill., driver of the car, was taken to Danville, Ind., and placed under arrest. He was reported in a serious condition with a skull fracture. State Patrolman Ernest Richardson of Lebanon said he would be charged with driving while intoxicated.

The other injured persons, all taken to the City hospital in Indianapolis, were Edward White, General Hurst, and Miss Gloria Bray, all of Homer, and Miss Mary Frazier and Miss Ruth Price, both of Fairmount.

CARS ARE WRECKED

Herman Taylor, Huntington, reported to the sheriff's office Monday morning that his Studebaker sedan had been slightly damaged when it was struck from behind by a Ford roadster, bearing license number 733-519, said to have been driven by a young man whose name was not obtained by Taylor. The accident occurred north of Greencastle on State Road 43.

Taylor reported he had stopped behind a huckster truck to allow an oncoming car to pass and that while he was stopped the Ford crashed into his car. No one was injured, it was said.

In another accident near the Park Coffman farm, northeast of Greencastle Sunday night, a Chrysler touring car said to have been occupied by three Terre Haute young men, was damaged when it crashed into a culvert bridge abutment on a sharp corner. No one was hurt in this accident.

THIS WEEK'S WEATHER

Rain at beginning of week and again about Thursday; colder Tuesday, warmer Thursday, colder again toward end of week.

REVIVAL AT BETHEL

The revival services at the Bethel church, Marion township, are being conducted each evening with good results and much interest.

Last Monday evening the Fillmore high school choir furnished special musical numbers for the service. On Tuesday evening the Big Walnut church came in delegation bringing with them their orchestra and special singers.

Special music is planned for each service. The first series of sermons ended Friday and a new series began Saturday evening with the subject "God's Purpose in Man's Creation". This was followed Sunday by a sermon entitled "Give God a Chance". Sunday evening the subject was "The Feeding of the Multitudes".

Sunday a rally day planned by the Young People's class was held with a basket dinner at noon. Sunday afternoon the Rev. J. M. Cauldwell assisted the pastor in the service.

The services will continue each evening at 7:30 o'clock until Friday evening and everyone is invited to attend. The church is beautifully decorated with fall flowers and autumn leaves for the revival.

One Sure Way to End Coughs and Colds

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold, no matter of how long standing, is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (Adv.)

TO OBSERVE NAVY DAY

A proclamation issued Monday by Mayor W. L. Denman, urged local citizens to observe Navy day by a display of the American flag. The proclamation follows:

Whereas Thursday, October 27, 1932, has been designated as Navy day, the date set apart to acquaint our people with the history and traditions of the American navy, and to inform the people as to what the navy is doing, not only in its own sphere, but as an asset to our nation other than defense. One hundred and fifty-seven years ago, the 27th of October, 1775, a special committee presented to the Continental congress a bill which provided for the construction of the first fighting ships of our navy.

October 27th is also the anniversary of the birth of the late Theodore Roosevelt who was responsible for the upbuilding of an adequate navy, so that it was under his command as President of the United States that our navy became rated amongst the nations of the world as a first class power.

Therefore, on Thursday, October 27, 1932, our people are requested to display the flag and to give thought to our navy in honor of the day.

Given under my hand this 24th day of October, 1932.

W. L. DENMAN.

Mayor.

Two Are Held On Vagrancy Charges

RUSSELL AND HAROLD RIGGS CLAIM TERRE HAUTE AS HOME

Russell Riggs, 32, and Harold Riggs, 25, claiming to be brothers and residing in Terre Haute, are held in the county jail on charges of vagrancy, following their arrest east of Greencastle early Monday morning by city officer Roscoe Scott and deputy sheriff Walter Bryan.

Arrest of the two men followed a report by a truck driver that one of the men was laying across the road while the other attempted to stop him. Believing it was a holdup attempt the truck driver notified local officers on his arrival here and they took the two men into custody. The attempt to stop the truck occurred near the Goldsberry farm, about three miles east of Greencastle.

Neither of the men was armed when arrested and they claimed they lay down on the pavement to sleep. One of them said he awakened as the truck approached and jumped for the ditch. The other did not awaken, they told officers. Addresses which they gave in Terre Haute, however, were found to be fictitious.

Russell Riggs gave his address as 2608 north 6th street, while Harold Riggs stated he resided in East Glenn, near Terre Haute. Deputy Bryan and city Marshal Otto O. Dobbs went to Terre Haute Monday morning to check up the story told by the two men and learned they fictitious addresses.

Miss Pearl M. Young Is Honored By State Teachers

Miss Pearl M. Young, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Young of 712 S. College Ave., Greencastle, Indiana, directed the play for the State Teachers' Association in Indianapolis, Thursday, Oct. 20.

Last spring, Miss Winnifred Ray, president of the Indiana Association for teachers of speech, selected Miss Young to direct a play for the program of the joint meeting of English and speech teachers held at Indianapolis, October 20 and 21, this fall.

Last October, 1932, the play for this same program was presented by the University players of Butler University, Indianapolis, so Miss Young and her students are to be congratulated in being given the same place on a program as the University players.

Miss Young is instructor of speech and dramatics in the LaPorte high school, LaPorte, Ind. Miss Young and her students drove from LaPorte to Indianapolis Thursday morning and gave the play at 2 o'clock in the afternoon before a large audience in the auditorium of the Masonic Temple.

The play was Lotus Flowers by J. C. McMullen and the students participating were Edward Lundgren, Lucille Cloutier, Kathryn Shumacker, Joan Swan, Helen Muller and Jephtha Bounds.

HOOVER TO NEW YORK

The president, in his Detroit speech, criticized the financial record of the Democratic House of Representatives, listed ten indications of business recovery, and pleaded for support so that the administration's program to defeat the depression could be carried on to completion.

He challenged his Democratic opponent to "disavow" such bills passed by the Democratic house as the bonus measure.

Among indicators of business recovery he named the return flow of gold, decrease in hoarding, increases in manufacturing production, and in imports and exports recently.

strategy of Wilson and drive through a comprehensive program quickly to take full advantage of the high party morale resulting from the expected victory.

His initial program is likely to include imposition of more drastic control of holding companies and the power business generally. He is pledged to revise the tariff, though possibly on a piecemeal basis, to cut government expenses by 25 per cent, to revise the farm loan board system so that mortgaged farm owners will not be turned out overnight, and to do a number of things about which he has been talking for weeks.

The governor goes into the final stretch of the campaign apparently in excellent physical shape. During his Atlanta visit Sunday, for instance, he greeted a crowd about his train at 8 a. m. at Marietta, Ga. At 9:30 he greeted a huge crowd here. Then he drove 75 miles to Warm Springs and greeted the patients, attended a trustees meeting, and drove 75 miles back to Atlanta, where he received a few local celebrities.

After that—with no food—he received newspaper correspondents.

MOTHER KILLS CHILDREN

MATTOON, ILL., Oct. 24 (UP)—A mother who drugged and drowned her three small children when financial losses drove her to desperation, was guarded against suicide in the hospital today where she is recovering from a futile attempt to end her own life, also.

The woman was Mrs. Inez Carroll, 29, attractive widow. She refused all Attired in the costumes they will wear in the jungle, Miss Violet Ohslea (left) and Miss Marian Gillespie are shown as they left New York on the S. S. food and medical attention and begged hospital attendants to allow her to die.

Mrs. Carroll said she had lost her savings and insurance money from her husband's death in the crash of the Insull Utilities. Then she lost her position as secretary to a Chicago broker.

"I was afraid the children would starve," she said. The children were fed a powerful narcotic poison in candy. When they failed to die, they were drowned, one by one, in the bathtub. The mother also took poison and collapsed as she staggered toward the tub to end her life.

"MURDER of the NIGHT CLUB LADY"

THE NEW THATCHER COLT DETECTIVE MYSTERY
BY ANTHONY ABBOT

CHAPTER FORTY-THREE

SILENCE fell upon the room. The brother of Christine Quires drew a cigar from his pocket and abstractedly lit it. He did not realize how plausible his theory was beginning to appear. To us who had waded through so much mystification in the last twenty-four hours his accusation seemed something more than mere guess-play. In my own mind, as I reviewed our past findings, the links began to appear.

Yet how had Guy Everett managed to kill both Lola and Christine? Granted that he had ample motive, where was his opportunity? True, we did not know his movements between certain highly critical and important hours. But Lola had died, practically before our eyes. Christine's body had been smuggled into the apartment, against our police guard. Where was Everett then? Until these riddles were answered we were no better off than when we started.

"May I see the body of my sister?" asked Edgar Quires, rising as if he understood that his interrogation was ended.

Colt rose with him.

"You will be notified when you may claim her," the chief answered. "You see, the medical examiner has not yet brought in his complete report. But that is only a formality. You will hear from us tomorrow—if you will leave your address."

"I shall be stopping at the Mc-Alpin. Old-fashioned, but we always go there. Good-night, Mr. Colt. I want you to know that I shall not rest until the murderers of my sister go to the electric chair."

"Thank you, Mr. Quires. I would like you to be at the pent-house of Lola Carewe when I call you. You will be notified."

Thatcher Colt and Edgar Quires shook hands. Then, with his hand laid tenderly on the arm of his wife, the brother of the murdered Christine departed. As the door closed, the Police Commissioner pressed a button.

And thus it was that two plain-clothes men were set on the trail of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Quires, while Colt and Dougherty once more put their heads together for new plans and fresh devices.

Dougherty took the lead in the discussion.

"I do not see," he began, "where your Paris background, what we might call the Basil Bouchon motif, fits in with the newest developments. Vincent Rowland had a good motive for killing these three people. If he has been involved in crooked dealings, his high position, coupled with the known force and resourcefulness of the man, make the theory quite attractive. What a job it would be to try Vincent Rowland for two murders!"

"You would try them only one at a time," Colt corrected the District Attorney with a smile.

"Need we be technical?" chuckled Dougherty, running a thick hand through his mop of red curls. "On the other hand, Guy Everett seems to be an emotionally unstable person who might have done it through some insane motive of revenge. I believe the case has narrowed down to these two."

Two plain-clothes men were set on the trail of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Quires.

Colt nodded philosophically.

"Perhaps," he commented. "But there remain certain obstacles to both theories. As a matter of fact, there remain other obstacles to any theory until we break through one physical barrier. Where was Christine Quires between the time she got out of the elevator and the time we found her dead? Until we get over that hurdle, everything else stands still."

"That's a tough one," agreed the District Attorney.

"I have been racking my brains ever since last night, and I confess that for hours on end I couldn't get within an inch of the problem," went on Colt. "But tonight I expect to solve it."

"Tonight?"

"Yes, Dougherty. In a little while, you, Tony and I are going back to that pent-house. And we are not coming out of it until this mystery is solved."

"Great!" approved Dougherty. "But in the meantime there are a few questions—"

The telephone rang. Inspector Flynn was speaking from his office downstairs. A few reports had come in which were of interest in the Carewe-Quires murders. The clerk who had been on duty in the lobby of the apartment house had at last been located. He had been on a beach-house party in Deal, New Jersey, but was now being questioned by the police. He did remember the letter which Lola had found in her box—the letter of warning which had drawn us into the case. When asked how the letter had been delivered to the desk, he replied that he did not know. He had been called to the telephone for a moment. When he returned the letter was lying on the desk blotter. There was no one in sight. He had not thought this very significant and had merely put the letter back into the box.

Further, Flynn went on to report, the autopsies were completed and Doctor Multoiler had signed documents releasing the remains to the family. Told about Edgar Quires, he promised to arrange with the brother for the claiming of Christine.

From these details, Flynn passed to a recital of the work on various trails. Vincent Rowland had been under complete observation all day. Nothing suspicious had developed. Late in the afternoon he had called at the pent-house and inquired as to the health of Mrs. Carewe. The old man looked haggard and shaken at the events in which he had been entangled. From there he had gone to the Union League Club where he remained up to the last report. Guy Everett had gone to bed and was still in bed, in his room at the Axton Club. He had left word not to be disturbed. Colt thanked and dismissed Inspector Flynn.

"Don't you think we ought to get Rowland and Everett down here and have it out?" again urged Dougherty.

But Colt remained adamant.

"Not here," he insisted. "But I am hoping that I will have a simpler plan. Let's go."

And thirty minutes later we found ourselves back in the apartment: that had been the home of Lola Carewe.

OLD GOLD GOES DOWN FIGHTING AGAINST OHIO

BUCKEYE TEAM VICTORIOUS IN HOMECOMING TILT HERE SATURDAY

Methodists met Methodists in the valley of the Wabash Saturday afternoon when the Bishops of Ohio Wesleyan met the Bishops of DePauw in an exciting football game on Blackstock field. The contest was played before a homecoming crowd estimated at 5,000, and the spectators were on their feet until the final whistle due to the thrills and action provided by the two fighting gridiron machines.

The Chions, leading contenders for Buckeye conference honors, finally subdued the Old Gold by a 25 to 13 decision. However, instead of finding DePauw a pushover, the Battling Bishops had their hands full taming a pack of snarling, clawing Tigers. Coach "Gaumy" Neel's proteges all though outwitted to the man, and opposing an admittedly far superior eleven, gave old grads and friends of the university a brilliant exhibition of courage and determination.

In the first quarter, Wesleyan threatened on three successive occasions. The Tigers held, once in the shadows of the goal posts. It was then that Fribley, sensational sophomore fullback, electrified the spectators with a 73-yard run for the first touchdown of the tilt. The Buckeyes were expecting Don Wheaton, DePauw ace, to kick on the play but Fribley got the ball, sifted through the line of scrimmage, and outran the opposition. Wheaton then calmly booted the pigskin between the uprights for the additional point to put the local collegians in the lead, 7 to 0.

Wesleyan braced in the second period and shoved across two touchdowns. An aerial attack was largely responsible for these points, although the Nealmen made a valiant attempt to break up the forward pass offense. In the closing minutes of the half, the Tigers worked the ball down to the 2-yard line but Ohio rallied and DePauw was held for downs.

It was in the third quarter that the Old Gold athletes outplayed the Buckeyes. The Tigers took the air and worked the ball down into scoring position on two successive thrusts. It was not until their third drive down the field, however, that Wheaton carried the ball across to knot the count at 13-all.

In the final period, the beef and experience of Ohio Wesleyan began to have its effect, and the DePauw gridders began to gradually weaken. The visitors forged into the lead with their third touchdown and it was 19

HUGE CROWD HEARS HOOVER IN "FIGHTING" DETROIT SPEECH

Some idea of the large crowd that heard President Hoover make his second "fighting" speech within a week may be gathered from this view of his Detroit audience.

FUMIGATE GRAIN BINS: DESTROY GRAIN WEEVILS

The carrying over of grain into the second year has resulted in an increase in weevil infestation in stored grain which calls for immediate attention to avoid serious losses before spring, according to E. W. Baker, county agent. The value of carbon bisulphide fumigation is shown by a statement recently made. A huge bin containing nearly 1,200 bushels was found to be infested. Following suggestions received, the farmer purchased carbon bisulphide at an approximate cost of $4.00, and applied it to the ends of burlap sacks pushed into the grain at several places. Upon moving the grain to another bin after the gassing was completed, it was found that a practically complete kill was obtained, thus enabling him to hold the wheat for feeding.

Bins or other containers should be as tight as possible. For very tight containers the carbon bisulphide may be used at the rate of one pound (9½ fluid ounces) to 100 cubic feet (100 bushels). For bins of average tightness the fumigate should be increased up to twice the strength recommended above. The liquid may be applied by pouring on sacks spread over the surface or probably better, on sacks which have been pushed down into the grain a foot or so, to insure more thorough and ready distribution of the gas. Immediately after applying the fumigant, the mass of grain should be covered with blankets or canvas to retain the fumes, and left for 24 to 36 hours. Never fumigate when the temperature is below 60 degrees, and preferably when it is about 70.

SAUER KRAUT RECIPE

The sauer kraut making season is here, and while most people enjoy eating it during the winter, there are many who do not know how to make it. Sauer kraut is a very good food to include in the winter menu. It contains the minerals, calcium and iron, and is a good source of the vitamins A B and C.

The following is a satisfactory way to can sauer kraut in half gallon glass cans. Chop up the cabbage and to one gallon of loosely chopped cabbage add one tablespoon of salt and two tablespoons of sugar. Pack this tightly in a half gallon glass can and set on a shelf and allow to work. The lid may be loosely set on top of the can but do not tighten. After the cabbage had finished working, which will be two weeks or more, the lid may be tightened some. Usually the cabbage makes enough water to keep it up to the top, but in case there is not enough liquid to come to the top of the can some weak salt water may be added.

MUSSOLINI WANTS "CLEAN SLATE" IN REPARATIONS

TURIN, Italy, Oct. 24, (UP)—Premier Benito Mussolini has reiterated his appeal for a "clean slate" in reparations with an added appeal for revision of war debts by America.

He asked the American people not to refuse refuge to the "ship of reparations" in an address here Sunday. "From the time of my Naples speech, when I first urged a clean slate, Europe has passed through some important events," the premier told an enthusiastic crowd of 150,000.

"The conference at Lausanne (where reparations were suspended) was one of the few that had any conclusion. The ship of reparations has come into port. Are the great American people going to refuse this vessel refuge, and send it away?"

Cries of "No, no!" came from the crowd.

"I should like that 'no' cried so loudly that it would cross the Atlantic and enter the hearts of the great American people," Mussolini shouted.

The premier stressed the Fascist belief that the German demand for juridical parity in armaments is justified. "While the disarmament conference lasts, Germany cannot ask to be allowed to rearm in any degree, but if the conference ends without a decision, Germany cannot remain in the League of Nations if her mortification is not removed."

Mussolini said Italy would remain a member of the league, "especially as today the league is very sick, and we must not abandon it. The league being universal in character results, in its orders and instructions losing their efficacy in proportion to the distance they travel."

They Satisfy... all you could ask for!

THERE'S romance in a Chesterfield—the romance of fine tobaccos from all over the world. The search begins in far-off Turkey where Chesterfield buyers visit every important tobacco-growing section...and continues throughout our own Southland. Year in and year out Chesterfield gives to its smokers the "pick" of all these fields.
